Famine hit Ireland in 1845, at this time people only ate potatoes. Many died when the blight hit, it was a terrible time and landlords were cruel.

Nothing like this had happened before and it devastated many. I was afraid and many left their country for the new world.