

Famine caused hard times in Ireland starting in 1845.

A lot of people suffered from a shortage of food.

Many Irish people emigrated to America.

Ireland's population decreased rapidly.

No-one could prevent it, no-one knew what to do.

Every day was as difficult as the next until the potato grew successfully in 1848/9.